HILDRETH ASKS FOR STALLS

NOTIFIES SECRETARY DAVIS THAT HE WILL SHIP EIGHTEEN RACERS TO LOUISVILLE.

Novelty and Fitz Herbert to Be Included in the Consignment That Will Come West from Saratoga-Gossip of Kentucky Racing.

Louisville, Ky., September 15.—If doubt ever existed about Samuel C. Hildreth bringing his stable from Saratoga to Churchill Downs for the nineteendays fall meeting beginning October 1, it was dispelled this afternoon. Hildreth wired to Secretary Lyman H. Davis that his consignment here would embrace eighteen racers, including Novelty and Fitz Herbert. Accordingly quarters second to none in clude four horses in the shipment.

Peter Wimmer, coming to the Downs from the east for the first time in years, is on the scene with cen horses, among them being Any Port, Intrinsic, expelled to the first range Beatrice.

While out today for an airing with a mite of a boy on his back Captain Morris, from the stable of Henderson & Hogan, scaled a high fence at Churchill Downs. Horse and rider landed in good order. Miller Henderson brought the high-flying colt back on the course, mounted him and rode him until he stopped to a walk. Last spring, while in training for the Derby, Captain Morris ran away and injured his rider.

J. C. Cahm, who came here from Latonia, has in his string, besides the two-year-old, Mockler, seven madden three-year-olds that were not trained as two-year-olds. He is experimenting with this bunch of norses, and the outcome will be watched closely by horsemen. The last crop of colts that Mr. Cahn had he trained as two-year-olds and as he had no luck with them he figured that he would let this lot of flitter Root's get develop into three-year-olds before he essayed to train and race them. Last spring nis entire stable was afflicted with a coughing epidemic. Mr. Cahn's bunch of three-year-old maidens are as good looking an aggregation as any lot of horses in training at the Downs, and with some of them the Missouri horseman may repeat his triumphs over the New Louisville Jockey Club track.

Mr. Cahn first earned turf distinction in the early 90's with a horse of unfashionable breeding, for until Ray 8, raced, his sire. Speculator, was little known of in the stud. Mr. Cahn sold the great racer finally to the late Charles F. Fleischmann, of Cincinati, for $12,500, and the late Louisville trainer. Robert Tucker, raced the horse for the Cincinnati surfman with much success. Another good horse that Mr. Cahn brought to the races was Buckvidere, with which performer he won the Tennessee Derby in 1897. Mr. Cahn owns a farm in Missouri close to the Woodblands estate of Barney Schreiber, and there he has a band of broodmares that would be acceptable property on any great breeding place. They embrace such mares as Crochet, South Breeze, Linda, Attainment, Emma Baer, Gold Ban and Free Hand. Trainer C. C. Van Meter has transferred seven of his horses from Douglas Park to Clurchill Downs, including The Fad. Topland, Princess Industry and Pit-a-Pat, The only horses he now has at Douglas Park for Courchill Downs, including The Fad. RACING OF THE CHAMPION TWO-YEAR-OLD OF 1910

Last year, following his custom, James R. Keene sold a number of his Castleton-bred yearlings, retaining a selected division for his own use in racing. Among those sold was a bay colt by Kingston—Curiosity. It was bought by E. W. Heffner for $1,700, but was either bought for John E. Madden or was subsequently sold to him by Heffner. It was a bad-luck sale for Mr. Keene. Had this colt been retained by him instead of being sent to the sales paddock he would now again be the leading American winner instead of being a bad second to Sam Hildreth. However, it is not on record that Mr. Keene has expressed regret because of the mistake made and he has followed the victorious career of the colt with as much pride and solicitude as if it had been racing in his own colors. The champion two-year-old of the year, Novelty, is the one referred to.

Joseph A. Martin, of the Niagara Racing Association, who has been a daily visitor at Blue Bonnets, left for Buffalo tonight. No decision has as yet been made in regard to the weights announced for the $10,000 Dominion Handicap, but the general impression is that they will stand as made by Handicapper Maginn.

W. G. King-Dodds was called to Toronto this morning on account of the serious illness of his father, A. King-Dodds, who is reported to be in a precarious condition. The latter was for many years editor and publisher of the Canadian Sportsman and is held in high regard by the turfmen in this country.

A. Dyment, one of the directors of the Canadian National Bureau of Breeding and a prominent turfman in the Dominion, was a visitor at the local course this afternoon.

SOME OF FRED ARCHER'S ACHIEVEMENTS.

In the controversy now taking place between the followers of D. Maher and F. Wootton as to which is likely to occupy the coveted position of leading jockey at the end of this season, it may interest the present generation of racing men to know what the incomparable F. Archer did during his career. At eleven years of age Archer was indentured to Matthew Dawson, the well-known and highly-respected Newmarket trainer; the exact date of the contract being February 10, 1868.

In Great Britain Archer had 8,648 mounts, and rode 2,749 winners, a win of about one in three.

If we count 1886 (in which year he died), he headed the list of winning jockeys for the last thirteen seasons, with an average of 201.

On eight occasions he rode over 200 winners each year, his best being 246 in 1885, T. Loates being the only other jockey to ride 200 winners in one season.

Archer won the Derby five times, Oaks four, St.

the only other jockey to ride 200 winners in one senson.

Archer won the Derby five times, Oaks four, St. Leger six, Two Thousand four, One Thousand two, Yorkshire Oaks seven (in twelve years), Cesarewitch two, City and Suburban five. Great Eastern Handicap three and the Liverpool Autumn Cup three. Strange to say, he never weighed in for the Ascot Gold Cup, the Goodwood Cup, or the Cambridgeshire, which was his fatal race, for wasting to ride St. Mirin was the cause of his death, when Archer crossed the channel he invariably scored, and for the Grand Prix de Paris he rode Bruce in 1882, Paradox in 1885 and Minting in 1886. In his time he rode against such past masters of the game as Tom Cannon, Sr., George Fordham, J. Osborne, H. Constable, H. Custance, C. Wood, Sam Loates, T. Loates, the Barretts and many others. The starting gate and monkey crouch were unknown.—London Winning Post.

BARGAIN YEARLINGS OF OTHER DAYS.

A good-looking two-year-old had just breezed home winner of a stake race. "I remember that colt's granddam," spoke up a veteran of the turf, "The first and only time that I ever saw her was at the old Fair Grounds track at New Orleans. She was a starter in a sprint at six furlongs one January afternoon and while running in a prominent position she was carried into the fence and her shoulder was torn fearfully. As she stood trembling and bleeding, unable to walk, her owner with tears in his eyes removed the saddle and bridle and was about to shoot the mare when a young man stepped up and begged for her life.

"The put her in slings,' he said, 'and I think I can save her. Don't kill her."

"The Kentuckian who owned the mare wished the young fellow good luck and walked away. The best veterinarian in the Crescent City was consulted and a temporary house was made out of boards only a hundred feet away from where the accident occurred and for two months the mare hung suspended in slings. She could finally walk, but was always lame.

a temporary house was made out of boards only a hundred feet away from where the accident occurred and for two months the mare hung suspended in slings. She could finally walk, but was always lame.

"She was so well bred that she was valuable as a broodmare, and her young owner, whose father was an official of the track, was on the lookout for a chance to mate her with some of the fashionable sires of the thoroughbred region of Tennessee or Kentacky. One day a man who owned a good son of the English horse, St. Simon, came to the course and while in conversation with the father of the young man who owned the mare the youngster plucked up courage enough to say that the blood lines of his mare would match those of the premier stallion of the Tennesseen.

"A few questions developed the fact that the mare was a granddaughter of the great English horse, Hermit, and an invitation was extended to send the crippled mare to Tennessee. A year late a very handsome chestnut filly walked by the matron's side. She was perfect in contour and was considered one of the choicest weanlings on the place.

"When the foal was about six weeks old a mag-

"When the fool was about six weeks old a magnate of the turf whose name is known wherever thoroughbreds have raced in this country for the last thirty years came to New Orleans on a yearly pilgrimage. The young chap obtained an introduction to this man and told him about the mare and fow minutes conversation bound he see them? As few minutes conversation bound has a supposed of them.

"A wire was sent to Lexington that afternoon and two days later word came from Nashville that the mare and foal werfe as represented and the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocketed the check for $1.000 with cound when he pocket $1.000 with cound when he was a check pocket $1.000 with $1.0

youngster showing plainly that he was then suffering from the ravages of distemper, the smart fellows shook their heads and prophesied that Morello would choke and perhaps fall before the race was half over.

"Jimmy Rowe, who started the race, said that the coit coughed a dozen times while at the post, and Billy Hayward, the veteran jockey who had the mount, often said before his death that he expected to have to pull the youngster up before half the distance was over. That sick giant, however, was good enough to toy with one of the best fields of two-year-olds out that year and, although many of us had bets on other candidates, we threw up our hats and cheered madly when the gallant colt marched to the front in the last furlong.

"It was the most remarkable achievement I have ever seen, for it must not be forgotten that there was an impost of 130 pounds in the saddle. Morello must have been steel and whalebone, for he got no let-up that winter, but was raced at New Orleans and then on through the west, winding up the following winter in California," "Racedand was another hundred-dollar yearling," broke in a listener. "Joe Ullman, who is almost a memory now as a plunger, was the lucky purchaser of the big angular gelding by Billet, and if Joe had kept Racedand during his entire racing career and bet on him exclusively he wouldn't have died broken financially, as rumor has it.

"Like Morello, Raceland had a curb, and like Morello he was rejected because of it. Old Bones was his nickname, and he galned fame in the colors of Ullman, the elder August Belmont and finally with Dwyer, for whom he won a fortune in stakes and purses, besides an unfold sum in wagers, for the unhandsome gelding was as true as steel and would run as straight as a string under punishment; in fact, he was as nearly a piece of machinery as you could find in the thoroughbred ranks."

"Trice cuts no great figure for an untried performer," remarked a bystander. "The Dwyers used to pay tremendous figures for the brothers and sisters of their gold

"You all overlooked a pretty good hundred-dollar hoss when you didn't mention Proctor Knott." spoke up a Kentuckian. "I remembah the day Sam Bryant made you all sick with him at Sheepshead Bay. You all were some sick when old Sam jumped the white-faced gelding out in the Junior Champion Stakes at Mommouth Park, but the Futurity was wirat the Frenchmen would call the coop de grace for you New Yorkers who thought Salvator was the classiest hoss out that yeah.
"Yes, suh, that gamecock on the back of Sam's jacket was flappin' his wings when Pikey Barnes, the best little niggah ridah in Kentucky, put it on Salvator and Isaac Murphy. Murphy, of cohse, was a Kaintucky niggah, too, but while he was a finished ridah and a great judge of pace he couldn't finish like Pikey, and we all got the money.
"It made Sam Bryant spruce up, an' perhaps he wasn't some class foh some time 'round-Lexington! Poah old Sam, he was fond of hosses an' he was game to the last, going to the race track to see the colors when the doctors told him he might die on the way."

There was a light in the Kentuckian's eyes as he finished which meant much. It told more eloquently than words that in his opinion Bryant had risked his life in a good cause and that there are few better things than a stringgle between thoroughbreds trained to the hour when they meet in a fair field with no favor.—New York Sun.
